CCRA MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the California Court Reporters Association is to advance the profession of verbatim shorthand reporting by promoting professional reporting excellence through education, research, and the use of state-of-the-art technology; establishing and maintaining professional standards of practice; and advocating before legislative and regulatory bodies on issues which impact the judicial system and others served by the court reporting profession of California.

President's Message — Are You Looking for a “Me” Association or an “Us” Association?

By Debby Steinman, CSR, CRR, RDR, CMRS, CPE
CCRA President

What's in it for you? What kind of an association should CCRA be?

Consider these scenarios:
Imagine an association where everyone passionately, whole-heartedly and recklessly calls the shots; there's no master plan.

“Gee, okay, let those legislators do what they want. Who cares? They'll never get rid of us. Hey, nobody can do what we do.”

Consider the member who just complains and says:

“You ought to do something.”

“Can we count on your help?”

“No, I don't want to do anything, but YOU really should do something.”

How about an association that doesn't consider the whole picture but buries its head in the sand?

“Legislation? What legislation? Who cares?”

How about an association where people say:

“Financially, I don't donate to the association, but I'd sure like to know who does.”

“Okay. If you join now, you'll know who gives what and in what detail.”

How about the person who says:

“Hey, I'm not a member, but I don't mind riding the backs of those who are.”

“No problem. The members don't mind. They'll take care of you. Just hitch a ride.”

How about this:

“When I'm attending a seminar, can my car get a wash and a wax?”

“Sure, why not? Not only that, but an oil change and a tune-up too.”

Consider this scenario:

If I join, how about tickets to the Super Bowl?

“Well, that's asking too much.”

“I'm serious. If I'm going to join, I want tickets to the Super Bowl.”

“All right. You join now, and we'll get you there.”

And this one:

“I'd join but I'd like a new car — not just a car, but a BMW.”

“Okay. Look in your garage.”

The Me/Association, where it's all about you. Do you recognize yourself or anybody you know in the above scenarios?

Hopefully you're saying, “It's not all about me, it's not about my agenda. I need to think of my profession and my association.”

This association, your association, is all about us. It's about our agenda, not my agenda, not your agenda, but our agenda. We're a team working together for our profession. It takes time. It takes effort. It takes working together. It takes constantly being informed and circumspect.

What really matters? What really matters is our relationship with each other, how we can promote our profession, how we can support each other, and how we can be the best method of guarding the record.

For us to survive, we need to forget the “it's-all-about-me attitude,” and we all need to participate in this together. It's a full-time job. If you're not interested in serving on the board or being on a committee, you can still support CCRA with your donations. When many of us help a little, big things get accomplished.

If you'd like to serve but don't know what to do, we have different committees, and I'm sure one of them will pique your interest.

Today, let's consider just four of the committees:

The Public Relations committee promotes and improves the image of the court reporting profession and verbatim shorthand reporters.

The Technology Committee keeps abreast of the latest developments of CAT and other methods used to preserve a verbatim record.

The Continuing Education committee seeks to raise the educational and professional qualifications of the membership, conducts seminars, and helps conduct the NCRA exams, along with our speed contest.

The SOS — Support our Students — committee supports students, has a mentoring program, talks to students at their schools, sponsors a scholarship program, and many other things.

And, of course, our Membership committee promotes membership.

If you have an interest in getting involved but don't know how and want to start out slowly, e-mail me at debby.steinman@ccra-cal.org or dsteinmancsr@cox.net and I'll help get you started.

If you're not a member, it's not too late. You can sign up here. CLICK HERE

Important Tax and Legal Information — Implications of Incentives Offered in Exchange for Business

Dear CCRA or DRA Member:

Both of California's court reporting trade associations representing deposition reporters want to make you aware of some important tax and legal information for you and your clients.

As you may know, many court reporting firms have been promising valuable incentives to law firm secretaries and assistants in exchange for those secretaries and assistants booking depositions with the firm. CCRA and DRA retained the law firm of Hanson Bridgett to review the tax implications of these incentives.

According to the Hanson Bridgett analysis, your clients should be aware that offers of such incentives raise potentially serious tax consequences for law firms and their employees. As Hanson Bridgett writes:

Given that the incentives provided by Reporting Firms in exchange for business are payments for services rather than gifts, the [Internal Revenue Code] requires the recipients of those payments to treat the value of the incentives as gross income. This means that recipients must report the value of the incentives they receive as income on their tax returns. Failure to do so could result in the assessment of additional taxes, interest and penalties by the Internal Revenue Service.

A law firm having a general policy in place may not be enough to avoid tax questions, according to the memo:

Where law firms have policies in place prohibiting employees from accepting incentives, serious tax issues may still arise to the extent these policies are not enforced.

Moreover, the memo details that there are serious tax and IRS issues as well for the court reporting firms offering these incentives. The memo can be found by clicking here.

The Hanson Bridgett memo explaining the tax implications of such incentives offered in exchange for business comes on the heels of the California Court Reporters Board citing and fining U.S. Legal for violating the Board's regulations on so-called gift giving. www.courtreportersboard.ca.gov/lawsregs/cite-fine.pdf

Our organizations have long believed that for the market to promote high quality transcripts at reasonable prices, quality and price — not goodies — must be the main reason to select deposition services. Certainly, it is difficult to imagine selecting other licensed professionals (lawyers, doctors) on the basis of such incentives, and for good reason: incentives distort the market away from rewarding quality reporting and, by doing so, hurt the interests of justice.

You are free to provide the Hanson Bridgett memo to your clients if, in your judgment, you feel your clients would be interested in or benefit from it.

A Reporter's Recipe for Success

By Erin Robinson

A brand-new court reporter fresh out of the CSR exam asked me, "What three things can I do to create a stellar career for myself?" I know exactly what my response would be: Number one, I would say you need to be open to providing realtime to attorneys; number two, join your court reporting associations, such as NCRA and CCRA, read the journals they offer, and take any courses or exams they administer; and, number three, if you're interested in a college degree, look into getting one.

I expect that young court reporter would politely nod, walk away and quickly forget all of my valuable advice! He or she may think, "I just finished court reporting school. When am I going to find time to go back to college?" Or perhaps, "I'm too afraid of realtime. My writing is nowhere near good enough. Those attorneys will eat me alive!" And maybe even, "I've jumped through the hoops and taken all the exams I will ever want to take. Why bother taking the CRR or the RMR? I can work without them."

I know I am suggesting what some might think is impossible. Most new reporters want to just get out there and work. But I believe that these three components are what have shaped my career and made it successful.

"It's 4:45. I have just received the dreaded phone call from our office manager giving out tomorrow's job assignments. I have to provide realtime tomorrow! Immediately, I feel sick to my stomach. Fear, panic and desperation grab hold of my body. How am I going to sleep tonight? I am so nervous. I want to crawl into bed and die!"

Has anyone felt this way when given a realtime assignment? I have been a realtime reporter for over ten years, and still every time I receive this phone call, my stomach ties itself in knots — the stress of performance anxiety, having to troubleshoot because your attorney client has a computer rivaling the age of dinosaurs, fear of complaints by the attorney because you've made a mistake.

The reasonable question to ask is, why would you agree to provide realtime? You do it because realtime is oftentimes the reason that you'll be chosen for complex litigation cases that have multiple transcript orders per day. Realtime also cuts down on your editing time. Your jobs are practically perfect at the end of the day. So it may seem like you are doing more work, but you are actually doing less!

The extra pay doesn't hurt either. And for the record, I've never had an attorney criticize my realtime; not because it's perfect, but because they know what a difficult skill is being provided and they appreciate it immensely.

Your realtime skill is what will distinguish you as a professional in the field of court reporting.

Working as a court reporter in the age of information, continuing education is a must. Technology is advancing faster than ever before, and as reporters, we need to stay abreast of new services we can offer our clients.

A great way to achieve this is to join NCRA and CCRA, associations that give us the newest information about our profession. Anytime NCRA or CCRA offer credits for software tutorials or realtime workshops, we should take advantage. What better way to protect our profession than to hone our skills!

With continual threats to cut funding to our CSR board and threats to cut funding for official reporters in courts, belonging to organizations, even getting involved in those organizations, helps you understand better the value of our advocates and the struggles they encounter to keep our profession safe.

Taking exams through NCRA is also a self-esteem booster and looks great on business cards. Some courthouses in California even offer up to a 7 percent increase in income if you have attained a CRR license.

College also counts as continuing education. Ours is a profession that does not stress college degrees, but with online learning, nowadays it is so easy to obtain one. For instance, Humphreys College in Stockton offers an online B.S. in Court Reporting, and they will accept your court reporting experience as credit towards your degree. College tuition counts as a write-off on our taxes, and college courses even count towards NCRA continuing education credits.

The bottom line is we need to keep our tools razor-sharp if we are going to stay ahead. Why make our jobs harder by becoming complacent? Like a professional athlete who must challenge his body, give it the sustenance it needs to perform at the top of his game, we must also approach our careers with passion, hunger for knowledge, and continually challenge ourselves to achieve more.

Freelancers, We're Covering You!

At our Centennial Convention in October of 2010, you wanted us to pursue continuing education unit requirements in California. We have. SB 671 introduced February 18, 2010, by Senator Curren Price, would statutorily require the California Court Reporters Board to establish continuing education requirements for the renewal of a shorthand reporter's certificate.

At our Centennial Convention in October of 2010, you wanted us to pursue unethical gift-giving. We have. "Dollars for Depos: A Risky Business" written by Early Langley, CCRA president-elect, chair of the Deposition Advisory Committee, was published in the San Francisco Daily Journal in the September 2010 issue. The article was subsequently reprinted in NCRA's Journal of Court Reporting in the January 2011 issue. It is the first of its kind to capture an untargeted audience: The entire legal community. And lawyers listened. Attorney Jed Peace Friedland wrote: "After reading your article, 'Dollars for Depos: A Risky Business,' which appeared in the San Francisco Daily Journal, I'd like to commend you. It mirrors my own sentiments. I've been on a rant about this subject in private discussions with numerous attorneys who consistently utilize poor quality court reporters either because they are blinded by a treasure trove of perceived 'freebies' or because someone harbors an undisclosed addiction to... the fleeting taste of Dom Perignon. If they check their transcripts and bills closely, they'll certainly think again before offhandedly booking court reporting services for such self-serving reasons."

What's been the other impact of that article? NCRA's Ethics First Committee is pursuing the same audience on a nationwide scale and CCRA's Early Langley is on the task force.

What's more? A significant collaborative alliance of CCRA and DRA produced a legal opinion on the taxation of incentives given by court reporting firms from the prestigious law firm of Hanson Bridgett. The result: It could potentially change the way law firms book depositions. And the IRS's radar screen is up.

Not enough? Stay tuned. Our Online magazine is about to meet the Brighter Side of a Freelancer's Life.

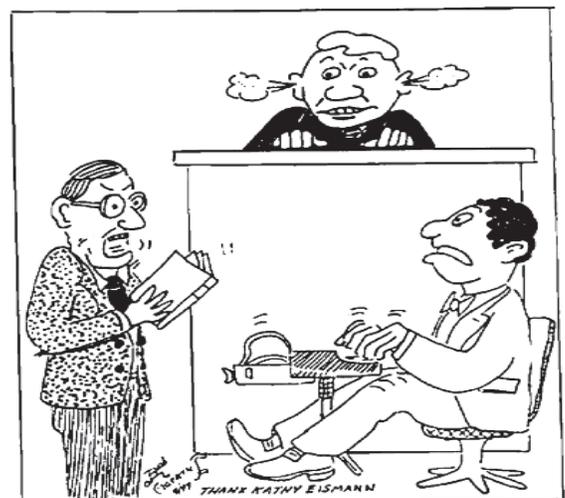

Want to be involved? We'd love to have you aboard! Join us. We are one association representing the entire court reporting profession for the last 100 years.

The Words Too and Also

By Margie Wakeman-Wells

The words too and also generally do not need commas with the exception of also at the beginning of the sentence.

At the end of the sentence

Historically too and also had commas before them at the end of the sentence. Since the words are just plain adverbs, there was never a need to use those commas, and they have been dropped.

I went with him too.
She needed another copy of it also.
He is going to work for the company too.

In the middle of the sentence

In the middle of the sentence, these two words are simple adverbs, and there is still no need for commas.

He too needed the exam.
The contract also needs to be read.
They intend also to donate to the church.

At the beginning of the sentence

Though too would rarely be used at the beginning of a sentence, if it were, it would not take a comma after it.

Also, on the other hand, when it occurs at the beginning of a sentence, is a conjunctive adverb of more than one syllable and needs a comma.

Also, we will take a look at his health.

Just a note about the words as well. They do not take commas at the end of the sentence.

I went to the concert as well.

Due to the scathing report from a long-anticipated audit of the AOC, Assembly Majority Leader Charles Calderon, D-Montebello, has introduced AB 1208 known as the “Trial Court Rights Act.”

The following paragraph is taken from the proposed bill and explains the action sought: “The bill would provide that each trial court of this state is an independent constitutional and statutory court with the independent right and duty to manage its administrative and financial affairs in accordance with its own policies as provided by its trial court management if the court is in reasonable compliance with accounting, audit, and budgetary standards established by law. The bill would provide that each trial court shall be independently empowered with enumerated powers. The bill would provide that, except as otherwise provided by law, all funds allocated for trial court operations, once appropriated, shall be fully allocated among the trial courts, and that no deductions shall take place without the consent of the affected courts.”

Google Transforms Jury Selection Process

By Lesia Mervin

A trip to the courthouse for jury duty isn't quite what it used to be. According to a post on ABAJournal.com and an article in the New York Times, it's being reported that some lawyers are surreptitiously searching sites to uncover the personal details of potential jurors. A juror's name is called, and within seconds the lawyer can Google the potential juror's name, check social networking sites such as Facebook, and have unabashed looks into a potential juror's private life, including ascertaining how the juror would potentially side on particular issues.

"Online vetting is redefining the jury selection process, turning the question and answer session known as 'voir dire' into 'voir Google,'" said the New York Times.

A quick Google of your own name might turn up surprising results, as it has for me personally, including YouTube videos, Web sites on which you have posted comments, and social networking status updates, all information which an attorney could use in deciding whether you are the appropriate juror to hear the case.

In my case, when I Googled my name. I found a ridiculous video from a birthday party years ago where I am "riding the bull." My husband had posted it on a social networking site years ago. There it was for the world to see. I had no idea it was out there on the Web.

Then I imagined a lawyer sitting in a courtroom somewhere watching this video while trying to decide if I was the appropriate juror for their case. I decided maybe, just maybe, it would be enough to get me out of jury duty. So there it stays. (But, of course, I would never intentionally try to get out of jury duty!)

What would you find if you Googled your name?

LogMeIn

By Jerry Kelley, Official Court Reporter
U.S. District Court, U.S. Courthouse
7940 Preston Road, Plano, Texas 75024
214-872-4829

This morning, I installed LogMeIn on my computer in the courtroom. By using the user name and password I supplied her, my scope editor was able to access the text and synchronized audio (audiosync) from my computer in the courtroom remotely by using her computer in her home office. The free version does not support audio access.

This afternoon, from her home, she will be editing on my computer in my courtroom as I write realtime. By using CaseviewNET, all realtime receive computers in the courtroom will have errors corrected in realtime.

There are lots of options in LogMeIn. My hope is that one of them will allow my proofreader to log on at the same time and follow my scope editor. At the end of the day, I will simply have to check the places they mark for me, make those corrections, and have a final transcript ready for sale and filing before I leave the courtroom.

Briefs Online

Looking for a quick brief for those hard-to-write words or common phrases? If you have a word or phrase that you would like a brief form for, let me know, and I will publish your requested brief in the next CCRA Online. If you have briefs that you would like to share with our members, please send them to Doreen Perkins, CortRepr1@aol.com or 1100 Van Ness, Dept. 50, Fresno, CA 93724-0002

Some of these briefs you have been given before. I have received a number of emails lately requesting briefs for the testimony of cell phone experts. I hope that you find these helpful. You may not use all of the briefs, but it will be a good reference when you are transcribing. If you have any others that you would like to share, please send them to me.

Use Caution Renaming Files

Q. I have about 60 installation files that I have saved from programs downloaded over time. Many of these files do not reveal what program they're associated with so I'm not sure what file to select if I need to reinstall something. For example, the install file for Avast Antivirus is setupeng.exe. If I change the name of the file to setupeng_avast.exe, will it still function properly?

A. For any UFOs (Unidentified File Objects), first try right-clicking a file, select Properties and see if there is any information that identifies the program. There often is.

If you're feeling frisky, you might want to double-click an install (.exe) file to start its installation. When you get to a point where the program is identified, cancel the installation.

Beyond that, it is fine to rename a file in the manner you describe, as long as you retain the same file extension. In other words, if the file is named setupeng.exe, you can change it to aardvark.exe or cherriesjubilee.exe and it will function as intended. Aardvarks and flaming desserts notwithstanding, I'd suggest renaming it with something more descriptive, such as avast_install.exe or avast_version 4.8.exe or avast_MAR2011.exe, to include the date.

Q. I have a Gmail address, but I also have Outlook Express on my computer and I'm just not sure which is which or what I should be using for what. I'm sorry if this is too basic, but I just can't figure it out, so any help would be appreciated, Mr. M.

A. I'll be happy to help you sort this out. Gmail is Web-based mail, so you don't need an email program to send and receive Gmail. Instead, you use your Web browser (such as Internet Explorer or Firefox). Using your browser, you would go to the Gmail Web site at www.gmail.com, log in, then send and receive messages from that location.

Outlook, Outlook Express, Eudora, and Thunderbird are all email programs (called client software) that are primarily used with what is called POP email. Mail you receive from others is sent to your Internet Service Provider's mail server. Your client software, which resides on your computer, is then used to connect to the server and retrieve your mail. When you send mail using any of these programs, it routes from your email program to your ISP's SMTP (outgoing mail) server. Incoming mail uses a POP mail server.

For the sake of completeness, and because I'm sure you're just dying to know, SMTP stands for Simple Mail Transfer Protocol; POP stands for Post Office Protocol; TMIYGMAH stands for Too Much Information; You're Giving Me a Headache.

Glossary of Legislative Terms (A, B, & C)

Over the next few issues, we're going to bring you a Legislative Glossary in installments. As we gear up for yet another legislative battle to protect our profession, we thought this may be helpful to all of us. Here are A, B & C.

A

Across the Desk

The official act of introducing a bill or resolution. The measure is given to the Chief Clerk or his or her representative at the Assembly Desk in the Assembly Chamber or to the Secretary of the Senate or his or her representative in the Senate Chamber. The measure then receives a number and becomes a public document available from the bill room (or at www.leginfo.ca.gov). Each proposed amendment to a measure also must be put across the desk in the Assembly or Senate in order to be considered for adoption.

Act

A bill passed by the Legislature and enacted into law.

Adjournment

Termination of a meeting, occurring at the close of each legislative day upon the completion of business, with the hour and day of the next meeting being set prior to adjournment.

Adjournment Sine Die

Final adjournment of the Legislature; regular sessions of the Legislature, and any special session not previously adjourned, are adjourned sine die at midnight on November 30 of each even-numbered year.

Adoption

Approval or acceptance; usually applied to amendments, resolutions, or motions.

Amendment

Proposal to change the text of a bill after it has been introduced. Amendments must be submitted to the Legislative Counsel for drafting or approval.

Author's amendments — Amendments proposed by the bill's author. Author's amendments to a bill may be adopted on the floor prior to the Committee hearing on the bill with the Committee chair's approval.

Hostile amendments — Amendments proposed by another member and opposed by the author in a Committee hearing or during Assembly or Senate floor consideration.

Analysis of the Budget Bill

The Legislative Analyst's comprehensive examination of the Governor's budget, available to legislators and the public about six weeks after the Governor submits the budget to the Legislature.

Appropriation

The amount of money made available for expenditure by a specific entity for a specific purpose, from the General Fund or other designated state fund or account.

Appropriations Limit

A limitation in the California Constitution on the maximum amount of tax proceeds that state or local government may appropriate in a fiscal year. The limit is based on 1986-87 fiscal year appropriations, and is adjusted annually.

Approved by the Governor

Signature of the Governor on a bill passed by the Legislature.

Archives

Refers to both location and contents of public records kept by the Secretary of State, including copies of all measures considered at each session, journals, Committee reports, and documents of historic value.

Assembly

The house of the California Legislature consisting of 80 members, elected from districts determined on the basis of population. Two Assembly districts are situated within each Senate district.

Assistant Chief Clerk

Performs the duties of the Chief Clerk of the Assembly in his or her absence.

Author

Member of the Legislature who introduces a legislative measure.

B

BCP (Budget Change Proposal)

Bicameral

Refers to a legislature consisting of two houses (see Unicameral).

Bill

A proposed law, introduced during a session for consideration by the Legislature, and identified numerically in order of presentation; also, a reference that may include joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments.

Bond Bill (general obligation bonds)

A bill authorizing the sale of state general obligation bonds to finance specified projects or activities. Subsequent to enactment, a general obligation bond bill must be approved by the voters.

Budget

Proposed expenditure of state moneys for the next fiscal year, presented by the Governor in January of each year for consideration by the Legislature; compiled by the Department of Finance, in conjunction with state agency and department heads.

Budget Act

The Budget Bill after it has been enacted into law.

Chair

The current presiding officer, usually in the context of a Committee hearing.

Chamber

The Assembly or Senate location where floor sessions are held.

Chapter

When a bill has been passed by the Legislature and enacted into law, the Secretary of State assigns the bill a "chapter number" such as "Chapter 123, Statutes of 1992," which is subsequently used to refer to the measure in place of the bill number.

Chapter Out

When, during a calendar year, two or more bills amend the same section of law and more than one of those bills becomes law, the bill enacted last (and therefore given a higher chapter number) becomes law and prevails over the bill or bills previously enacted (see Double Joint).

Check-in Session

Coauthor

Committee of the Whole

The Assembly or Senate meeting as a Committee for the purpose of receiving information.

Companion Bill

An identical bill introduced in the other house. This procedure is far more common in Congress than in the California Legislature.

Concurrence

Concurrent Resolution

A measure introduced in one house that, if approved, must be sent to the other house for approval. The Governor's signature is not required. These measures usually involve the internal business of the Legislature.

Conferees

Members of a conference Committee.

Conference Committee

Usually composed of three legislators (two voting in the majority on the disputed issue, one voting in the minority) from each house, a conference Committee meets in public session to forge one version of a bill when the house of origin has refused to concur in amendments to the bill adopted by the other house. For the bill to pass, the conference Committee version must be approved by both Assembly and Senate. Assembly conferees are chosen by the Speaker; Senate conferees are chosen by the Senate Committee on Rules.

Consent Calendar

AB 73

(Feuer [D]) Dependency Proceedings: Public Access.

Status: 01/03/2011-Read first time.

Current Location: 12/21/2010-A PRINT

Summary: Existing law provides that the public shall not be admitted to a juvenile court hearing in a dependency proceeding, unless requested by a parent or guardian and consented to or requested by the minor concerning whom the petition has been filed. Existing law permits the judge or referee to admit those persons as he or she deems to have a direct and legitimate interest in the particular case or the work of the court. This bill would express the intent of the Legislature to enact legislation to provide that juvenile court hearings in juvenile dependency cases shall be presumptively open to the public, unless the court finds that admitting the public would not be in a child's best interest. The bill would also include a statement of legislative findings and declarations.

AB 126

(Davis [D]) Courts: Judicial Appointments.

Status: 01/27/2011-Referred to Com. on JUD.

Current Location: 01/27/2011-A JUD.

Summary: This bill would require the Governor to collect and release, on a continuous basis by posting on his or her official Internet Web site, the names of all persons who have been provided judicial application materials or related documentation on one or more judicial applicants by the Governor or his or her representatives to assist in the decision whether to submit an application to the State Bar for evaluation or whether the applicant should be appointed after he or she has been evaluated by the State Bar, other than employees of the Governor. The bill also would require each member of the designated agency of the State Bar responsible for evaluation of judicial candidates to complete a minimum of 2 hours of training in the areas of fairness and bias in the judicial appointments process on an annual basis. The bill would revise the provision requiring the Governor, the designated agency, and the Administrative Office of the Courts to collect and release specified demographic data annually, as described above, to specifically require that the information be for the prior calendar year. The bill would also require, with respect to the collection and release of demographic data, the State Bar and the Administrative Office of the Courts to use the ethnic and racial categories designated and used by the Governor in the March 1, 2008, report.

AB 141

(Fuentes [D]) Jurors: Electronic Communications.

Status: 02/03/2011-Referred to Com. on JUD.

Current Location: 02/03/2011-A JUD.

Summary: Existing law requires the court in a jury trial to admonish the jury that it is their duty not to converse with, or permit themselves to be addressed by, any other person on any subject of the trial. The court is required to provide the admonishment in a civil proceeding when the jurors are permitted to separate during the trial, and when the case is submitted to the jury, and, in a criminal proceeding, after the jury has been sworn and before the people's opening address, at each adjournment of the court, and when the jurors are permitted by the court to separate after the case is submitted to the jury. An officer having the jury under his or her charge shall not permit any communication to be made to them, or make any himself or herself, as specified. This bill would expand those admonishments to include the conduct of research or dissemination of information on any subject of the trial. The bill would require the court, when admonishing the jury against conversation, research, or dissemination of information pursuant to these provisions, to clearly explain, as part of the admonishment, that the prohibition applies to all forms of electronic and wireless communication. The bill would require the officer in charge of a jury to prevent any form of electronic or wireless communication. This bill contains other related provisions and other existing laws.

AB 142

(Fuentes [D]) Criminal Procedure: Pleas.

Status: 02/03/2011-Referred to Com. on PUB. S.

Current Location: 02/03/2011-A PUB. S.

Summary: This bill would make the willful disobedience by a juror of a court admonishment related to the prohibition on any form of communication or research about the case, including all forms of electronic or wireless communication or research, punishable as either a civil or criminal contempt of court pursuant to those provisions. By expanding the scope of an existing crime, the bill would impose a state-mandated local program.

AB 201

Status: 02/10/2011-Referred to Com. on PUB. S.

Current Location: 02/10/2011-A PUB. S.

Summary: Existing law provides for the diversion of specified criminal offenders in alternate sentencing and treatment programs. This bill would authorize superior courts to develop and implement veterans courts for eligible veterans of the United States military with the objective of, among other things, creation of a dedicated calendar or a locally developed collaborative court-supervised veterans mental health program or system that leads to the placement of as many mentally ill offenders who are veterans of the United States military, including those with posttraumatic stress disorder, traumatic brain injury, military sexual trauma, substance abuse, or any mental health problem stemming from military service, in community treatment as is feasible and consistent with public safety. The bill would provide that county participation is voluntary. The bill would declare the intent of the Legislature that, where there are statutory requirements for certain education or counseling programs to be included in the terms of probation, the components of those counseling terms would be required to be incorporated into the treatment programs that are designed to treat the underlying psychological disorders rather than requiring them in lieu of the psychological treatments.

AB 214

(Davis [D]) Professional Photocopiers.

Status: 02/10/2011-Referred to Com. on B., P. & C.P.

Current Location: 01/31/2011-A PRINT

Summary: Existing law provides for regulation of professional photocopiers, including a requirement for issuance of an identification card by the county clerk. This bill would require the identification card for an employee of a professional photocopier or a partnership or corporation to contain a photograph of the employee. By imposing additional duties on county clerks, the bill would impose a state-mandated local program. The California Constitution requires the state to reimburse local agencies and school districts for certain costs mandated by the state. Statutory provisions establish procedures for making that reimbursement. This bill would provide that, if the Commission on State Mandates determines that the bill contains costs mandated by the state, reimbursement for those costs shall be made pursuant to these statutory provisions.

AB 295

(Lowenthal, Bonnie [D]) California Case Management System.

Status: 02/10/2011-From printer.

May be heard in committee March 12.

Existing law requires the Administrative Office of the Courts to annually provide to those chairpersons copies of any independent project oversight report for the California Case Management System. This bill would make technical, nonsubstantive changes to these provisions.

AB 536

(Ma [D]) Department of Consumer Affairs.

Status: 02/17/2011-From printer.

May be heard in committee March 19.

Current Location: 02/16/2011-A PRINT

Summary: Existing law creates the Department of Consumer Affairs and establishes the department's composition, and specifies that the purpose of the boards, bureaus, and commissions within the department is protection of the public. This bill would make a nonsubstantive, technical change to the provision specifying that purpose.

AB 803

(Wagner [R]) Electronic Court Reporting.

Status: 02/18/2011-From printer.

May be heard in committee March 20.

Current Location: 02/17/2011-A PRINT

Summary: Existing law authorizes a court to use electronic recording equipment in a limited civil case, a misdemeanor or infraction case, or for the internal purpose of monitoring judicial officer performance. Existing law requires a court to obtain advance approval from the Judicial Council prior to purchasing equipment. Existing law also requires each superior court to report semiannually to the Judicial Council, and the Judicial Council to report semiannually to the Legislature, regarding all purchases and leases of electronic recording equipment that will be used to record superior court proceedings. This bill would instead require the Judicial Council, by July 1, 2012, to implement electronic court reporting in 20% of all superior court courtrooms and to implement electronic reporting in at least an additional 20% of all superior court courtrooms, annually thereafter. This bill would also require the Judicial Council to report to the Governor and the Legislature on the efforts undertaken to implement electronic court reporting, as provided, by January 1, 2014. The provisions of the bill would not apply to felony cases.

AB 973

(Campos [D]) Trial Courts: Budget Process: Public Meeting.

Summary: Existing law authorizes the Judicial Council, as part of its trial court budget process, to seek input from groups and individuals as it deems appropriate, including, but not limited to, advisory committees and the Administrative Director of the Courts. The trial court budget process may include other considerations, including the receipt of budget requests from the trial courts. This bill would require the presiding judge of the trial court, or his or her designee, before a trial court submits its budget request to the Judicial Council, to hold a public hearing on the trial court's proposed budget request, as specified. The bill would provide for notification of dates and locations at which the proposed budget request may be inspected by the public and the date, time, and location of the public hearing on the proposed budget request. The bill also would require a public meeting and public hearing if the trial court proposes to implement a change in service, as defined, and would require the presiding judge of the trial court, or his or her designee, to provide public notice of the public meeting and public hearing.

SB 848

(Emmerson [R]) Court of Appeal Districts.

Status: 02/19/2011-From printer.

May be acted upon on or after March 21.

Current Location: 02/18/2011-S PRINT

Summary: The California Constitution requires the Legislature to divide the state into districts, each containing a court of appeal with one or more divisions. Under existing statutory law, the state is divided into 6 court of appeal districts. The 4th Appellate District consists of the Counties of Inyo, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, San Diego, and Imperial, which consists of 3 divisions. One division consists of 10 judges and holds its regular session in San Diego, a 2nd division consists of 7 judges and holds its regular sessions in the San Bernardino/Riverside area, and a 3rd division consists of 8 judges and holds its regular sessions in Orange County. This bill would reorganize the court of appeal districts into 7 districts by removing the Counties of San Bernardino, Inyo, and Riverside from the 4th Appellate District and creating a 7th Appellate District consisting of those districts. The 7th Appellate District would consist of one division of 7 judges and would hold its regular sessions in the San Bernardino/Riverside area, and the 4th Appellate District would thereafter consist of 2 divisions that hold regular sessions in the Counties of San Diego and Orange. Existing law provides that upon the creation of a new court of appeal district or division, the Governor shall appoint judges to serve on that court, and specifies the procedures to be followed for the election of the judges. This bill would specify that those provisions would not apply to the creation of the 7th Appellate District, and that the existing justices of the division of the 4th Appellate District that would be reorganized as the 7th Appellate District would serve as the judges of the new district. The bill would specify that the terms of office of those judges would not be affected by the reorganization, and would also specify that no action by the Commission on Judicial Appointments would be necessary. The bill would specify that the judge serving as the currently presiding judge in the division of the 4th Appellate District that would create the new court of appeal district would serve as the administrative presiding judge of the new district.
